

GLOBAL YOUNG ACADEMY

Newsletter September 2018

The GYA Media Office continuously seeks ways to improve our communication products. This month we're experimenting with a prototype newsletter featuring more graphics and less text, and would appreciate your feedback.

If you like the new format, please click here.

If you don't like the new format, please click here.

If you have more specific feedback you'd like to share, please email GYA Press Officer Jim Curtiss.

Thank you for your feedback, and enjoy your reading!

Luminaries and Executive Committee meet in Halle and Berlin, Germany

During the GYA Executive Committee In-person meeting in Halle, Germany, from 22 to 26 September, EC members had the opportunity to meet with German Parliamentarians and educators, including the Rector of the University of Halle-Wittenberg.

Read more here

New Voices in Science

GYA alumni Eva Alisic (Australia) and Hans Hilgenkamp (Netherlands) have written an editorial that appeared in Science about New Voices, the new young academy-like organisation in the United States.

Read more here

Bio2Bio working group presents new ideas at the World Social Science Forum in Japan

The Bio2Bio working group held a panel discussion during the World Social Science Forum in Fukuoka, Japan on 25 September. This event was organised with support from the National Science and Technology Development Agency of Thailand, the InterAcademy Partnership, members of the Bio2Bio working group and the GYA Office.

Read more here

Young Academy of Norway teams up with the Letten Foundation

An Oxford academic has been awarded the inaugural Letten Prize for research on global development challenges. The prize is a novel initiative by the Young Academy of Norway and the Letten Foundation, which seeks to recognize the contribution of younger researchers in addressing global challenges across the fields of health, environment, development and equality.

Read more here

plagiarism

The Nigerian Young Academy has begun a campaign against plagiarism among researchers in the country by organising workshops to create awareness on the dangers of this academic pitfall. Some of the initial efforts on this were captured by science journalist and GYA Advisory Board member Linda Nordling in an article that appeared in Science.

Read more here

If you like the new format, please click here.

If you do not like the new format, please click here.

Thank you for your feedback!

This email was sent to <<Email Address*>>

why did I get this? unsubscribe from this list update subscription preferences

Global Young Academy · c/o German National Academy of Sciences Leopoldina · Emil-Abderhalden-Straße 37 · Halle (Saale) 06108 · Germany

